
Fashion Week Soundtracks
Spring Summer 2010
+ Couture F/W09

FINAL VERSION 3

Agenda Inc.
Belief strategy for luxury brands

Hello.

Here are all the playlists that we've gathered from the soundtracks for Spring / Summer 2010 shows in Paris, Milan, New York and London.

These lists are as complete as we can make them, based on attending shows, contacting DJs, in-person reports, and from contacting brand directly. We contacted every fashion brand which produced a runway show for Spring / Summer 2010. The overwhelming majority responded. Any gaps in the report are because we failed to generate a definitive list, or the brand - in just 3 cases - declined to take part.

To find out more about this project, send us an email to inbox@agendainc.com

We are in contact with most of the DJs, so let us know if you need more information.

Next season we will be ramping up our coverage of fashion week soundtracks. Stay tuned...

Thanks!

SPRING / SUMMER 2010

The most played artist for the Spring / Summer 2010 shows was The Gossip (10 plays); followed by an impressive performance by Iggy Pop (7 plays), and The XX (7 plays). The death of Michael Jackson may have contributed to the amount of plays he got this season. Meanwhile, familiar runway favorites like New Order, and Nouvelle Vague continued to be played. As did new perennial favorites Franz Ferdinand

The songs most heard at fashion week Spring / Summer 2010, with 4 plays each were Drugstore Diamond by The Gossip, No You Girls by Franz Ferdinand, and Shoes by Tiga which seemed almost tailor-written for fashion week.

Michel Gaubert was the busiest DJ at fashion week for Spring/Summer 2010, working at least 11 shows. Laurent Vacher mixed at 9, and excellent duo Jerry Bouthier & Andrea Gorgerino produced and delivered 7.

SPRING / SUMMER 2010

Last season, the Ting Tings were the band that emerged as the darlings of fashion week DJs, and of fashion week after-parties. This season, the place was taken by The XX, whose connection to Hot Chip, and late Summer CD release certainly helped boost their visibility at fashion week, on and off the runway.

Three key trends which emerged this season..

#1 - From DJ to production . The increasing strength of full soundtracks to accompany runway shows. More and more designers are replacing the old 'jukebox' approach of just playing music to accompany the runway show, to much more nuanced and produced tracks.

Mode-F in particular are emerging as a new kind of fashion production house with their complex engineering of dance, classical, and electronic to create entirely new hybrids.

SPRING / SUMMER 2010

#2 - Orchestra Sounds. Very notable this season is the growth of orchestral music, mostly recent, some connected to musicals but aimed at delivering a more textured support to the runway styles.

#3 - Bespoke music. We're seeing an increasing recognition that the best support for some collections is to tailor the music as much as the other details of the show.

Together with this trend is the rise of live music to accompany the shows - notably this season, Lily Allen at Chanel.

This season Hugo Boss, Blak, and Dior Homme all created special soundtracks to accompany their shows.
